Washington D. C.

Dear Sir - Your communication of July 20 found me last night - The seeming inconsistency of my statement as to being a native of Ill. and born in Scotland & there, I was born in Scotland & came to this country when I was 12 years of age - in 1856 - My father was - or became a naturalized citizen - which of course naturalized me. I consulted a lawyer and he recommended my filling out the ^{blank} form - It will be impossible for me to send my father's papers of naturalization, but if you will take the trouble to consult the Passport record of 12 years ago, about this time (I am very hoary, I have mislaid my old passport, & cannot give its number) you will find a passport was issued me, under the administration of H. Fish.

I have been abroad since the summer of 1894. Returned last fall, and am now on my way back to Macedonia Turkey in Asia. As physician to the Am. Board of Missions - & I gone for a number of years, I don't see where there can be any trouble - when a previous passport has been issued, and its record can be found in your department,
I am very anxious to have the document at once,
as we sail the 16th next month,

I enclose the blank, which I filled out when in Milwaukee. It was urged to fill out the other -

Trusting that the records of my previous passport will be sufficient evidence of my being a Citizen - and that I shall receive my passport on arriving in Vermont - I am very dear sir -

Yours very truly

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS IN REGARD TO PASSPORTS.

Department of State, U. S. A.,

Washington, May 1, 1886.

Citizens of the United States, visiting foreign countries, may be liable to inconvenience if unprovided with authentic proof of their national character. This may be avoided by a passport from this Department, certifying the bearer to be a citizen of the United States. Passports are issued only to citizens of the United States, upon application supported by proof of citizenship.

Citizenship is acquired by nativity, by naturalization, by descent, and by annexation of territory. (13 Op. Att'y Gen. 397.) An alien woman, who marries a citizen of the United States, thereby becomes a citizen. Minor children, resident in the United States, become citizens by the naturalization of their father. Children born abroad to citizens of the United States partake of their father's nationality.

When the applicant is a native citizen of the United States he must transmit his own affidavit of this fact, stating his age and place of birth, with the affidavit of one other citizen of the United States to whom he is personally known, stating that the declaration made by the applicant is true. These affidavits must be attested by a Notary Public, under his signature and seal of office. When there is no Notary in the place, the affidavits may be made before a Justice of the Peace or other officer authorized to administer oaths; but if such officer has no seal, his official act must be authenticated by certificate of a court of record.

A person born abroad, who claims that his father was a native or naturalized citizen of the United States, must state in his affidavit that his father was born or naturalized in the United States, has resided therein, and was a citizen of the same at the time of the applicant's birth, and that the applicant intends to reside in the United States. (13 Op. Att'y Gen. 89.) This affidavit must be supported by that of one other citizen acquainted with the facts.

If the applicant be a naturalized citizen, his certificate of naturalization must be transmitted for inspection (it will be returned with the passport), and he must state in his affidavit that he is the identical person described in the certificate presented.

Passports cannot be issued to aliens who have only declared their intention to become citizens.

Military service does not of itself confer citizenship. A person of alien birth, who has been honorably discharged from military service in the United States, but who has not been naturalized, should not transmit his discharge paper in application for a passport, but should apply to the proper court for admission to citizenship, and transmit a certified copy of the record of such admission.

In issuing passports to naturalized citizens, the Department will be guided by the naturalization certificate; and the signature to the application and oath of allegiance should conform in orthography to the applicant's name as written in the naturalization paper.

The wife or widow of a naturalized citizen must transmit the naturalization certificate of the husband, stating in her affidavit that she is the wife or widow of the person described therein.

The children of a naturalized citizen, claiming citizenship through the father, must transmit the certificate of naturalization of the father, stating in their affidavits that they are children of the person described therein, and were minors at the time of such naturalization.

The oath of allegiance to the United States will be required in all cases.

The application should be accompanied by a description of the person, stating the following particulars, viz:

Age: years. Stature: feet, inches, (English measure.) Forehead: .
Eyes: . Nose: . Mouth: . Chin: . Hair: .
Complexion: . Face: .

If the applicant is to be accompanied by his wife, minor children, or servants, it will be sufficient to state the names and ages of such persons and their relationship to the applicant, when a single passport for the whole will suffice. For any other person in the party, a separate passport will be required. A woman's passport may include her minor children and servants. Though separate passports may be granted to different members of a family when good cause is shown therefor, separate passports must, in every case, be granted for adult children.

By act of Congress approved June 20, 1874, a fee of five dollars is required to be collected for every citizen's passport. That amount should accompany each application. Postal money orders and bank checks should be payable to the Disbursing Clerk of the Department of State. Checks to be available for the full amount must be drawn on banks at principal business centers. Individual checks must be certified by the banks upon which they are drawn.

A passport is good for two years from its date and no longer. A new one may be obtained by stating the date and number of the old one, paying the fee of five dollars, and furnishing satisfactory evidence that the applicant is at the time within the United States. The oath of allegiance must also be transmitted when the former passport was issued prior to 1861.

Citizens of the United States desiring to obtain passports while in a foreign country must apply to the chief diplomatic representative of the United States in that country, or, in the absence of a diplomatic representative, then to the Consul General, if there be one, or, in the absence of both the officers last named, to a Consul. A naturalized citizen so applying abroad must state under oath that his residences since his naturalization have been such as not to work an abandonment of his nationality and that he expects to return to the United States as his domicile and final abode.

Passports cannot be lawfully issued by State authorities, or by Judicial or Municipal functionaries of the United States (Revised Statutes, section 4075), and it is made a penal offence for unauthorized persons to grant any passport or other instrument in the nature of a passport.

To persons wishing to obtain passports for themselves, blank forms of application will be furnished by this Department on request, stating whether the applicant be a native or a naturalized citizen. Forms are not furnished, except as samples, to those who make a business of procuring passports.

Communications should be addressed to the Department of State, indorsed "Passport Division," and each communication should give the Post Office address of the person to whom the answer is to be directed.

Professional titles will not be inserted in passports.

The issuing of passports is at the discretion of the Secretary (Revised Statutes, section 4075), and they will not be granted to persons engaged in violation of the laws of the United States, e. g., Mormon propagandists.

The refusal to grant a passport except on proof of citizenship, is not to be regarded as inconsistent with the position that the Department will extend to persons domiciled in the United States, though not citizens, such rights as belong to them by international law.
